The pastor noticed little Alex staring at the large plaque that hung in the foyer of the church.

It was covered with names, and small American flags were mounted on either side of it.

The seven year-old had been staring at the plaque for some time, so the pastor walked up, stood beside the boy, and said quietly, "Good morning, Alex."

"Good morning," replied the young man, still focused on the plaque. "What is this?" Alex asked.

"Well, son, it's a memorial to all the young men and women who died in the service."

Soberly, they stood together, staring at the large plaque. Little Alex's voice was trembling and barely audible when he asked, "Which service, the 9:45 or the 11:15?"

The kindergarten teacher is trying to explain to her class...

...the definition of the word "definitely" to them. To make sure the students have a good understanding of the word, she asks them to use it in a sentence.

When called upon the first student says "The sky is definitely blue". The teacher said "Well that isn't entirely correct because sometimes it's gray and cloudy".

Another student says "Grass is definitely green". Teacher again replies "If grass doesn't get enough water it turns brown, so that isn't really correct".

Another student raises his hand and asks the teacher "Do farts have lumps?".

The teacher replied, "No, and that is not a suitable question for class discussion." The student replies, "Then I definitely pooped my pants".

Misinterpreting the Lord's Prayer.

When my twin daughters were young, I taught them to say this prayer before going to bed. As I listened outside their door, I could hear them say, "Give us this steak and daily bread, and for us our mattresses." My husband and I always had a good laugh over this. That was over 50 years ago, and the memory still remains in my heart.

- From San Francisco: When I was a child, I learned this prayer as "Our Father, who are in Heaven, Howard be thy name." I always thought that was God's real name.
- Groton, Mass: My mother spent her early childhood saying, "Hail Mary, full of grapes."
- Missoula, Mont: My son, who is in nursery school, said, "Our Father, who art in Heaven, didja know my name?"
- Uniontown, Ohio: I remember thinking this prayer was "Give us this day our jelly bread."
- Covina, Calif: I recall reading something years ago about the Pledge of Allegiance. Some thought it began, "I led the pigeons to the flag."
- Cleveland, Ohio: When I was little, I often wondered who Richard Stands was. You know, pledge allegiance to the flag and to the republic for Richard Stands."
- Schenectady, N.Y: I once knew a child whose favorite Sunday school song was "Gladly, Cross-Eyed Bear."
- Tampa, Fla: When my husband was 6 years old, he thought a certain prayer was "He sunder a bunch of violets.." The real words were "under Pontius Pilate," but at that age, I didn't know better. To this day, we still snicker in church whenever that prayer is read.
- Lake Forest Park, Wash: When I was a little girl, we sang a song in Sunday school about Noah. Part of the chorus was "And the rains came down, and the floods came up." We lived next door to a couple of charming little girls who always sang this song while playing in the garden. Their words were, "And the rains came down, and the spuds came up."
- Oak Harbor, Wash: When my older brother was very young, he always walked up to the church altar with my mother when she took communion. On one occasion, he tugged at her arm and asked, "What does the priest say when he gives you the bread?" Mom whispered something in his ear. Imagine his shock many years later when he learned that the priest doesn't say, "Be quiet until you get to your seat."
- Grand Junction, Colo: When I was younger, I believed the line was "Lead a snot into temptation." I thought I was praying for my little sister to get into trouble.

Three little boys were upset because they couldn't get anyone to play with them.

They decided it was because they had not been baptized, and didn't go to Sunday School.

So they went to the nearest church. Only the janitor was there.

One said, "We need to be baptized because no one will come out and play with us. Will you baptize us?"

"Sure" said the janitor.

He took them into the bathroom and dunked their heads in the toilet bowl, one at a time.

Then he said, "Now go out and play."

When they got outside, dripping wet, one of them asked, "What religion do you think we are?"

The oldest one said, "We're not Catholic, because they pour the water."

"We're not Bablist because they dunk all of you. We're not Methdiss because they just sprinkle you."

The littlest one said, "Didn't you smell that water?"

"Yeah, what do you think that means?"

"That means we're Pisscopalians."

Those Funny Kids

I was driving with my three young children one warm summer evening when a woman in the convertible ahead of us stood up and waved. She was stark naked! As I was reeling from the shock, I heard my 5_year_old shout from the back seat, "Mom! That lady isn't wearing a seat

My son Zachary, 4, came screaming out of the bathroom to tell me he'd dropped his toothbrush in the toilet. So I fished it out and threw it in the garbage. Zachary stood there thinking for a moment, then ran to my bathroom and came out with my toothbrush. He held it up and said with a charming little smile, "We better throw this one out too then, 'cause it fell in the toilet a few days ago."

On the first day of school, a first grader handed his teacher a note from his mother. The note said, "The opinions expressed by this child are not necessarily those of his parents."

A woman was trying hard to get the ketchup to come out of the jar. During her struggle the phone rang so she asked her 4_year_old daughter to answer the phone. "It's the minister, Mommy," the child said to her mother. Then she added, "Mommy can't come to the phone to talk to you right now. She's hitting the bottle."

A little boy got lost at the YMCA and found himself in the women's locker room. When he was spotted, the room burst into shrieks, with ladies grabbing towels and running for cover. The little boy watched in amazement and then asked, "What's the matter haven't you ever seen a little boy before?"

While taking a routine vandalism report at an elementary school, I was interrupted by a little girl about 6 years old. Looking up and down at my uniform, she asked, "Are you a cop?" "Yes," I answered and continued writing the report. "My mother said if I ever needed help I should ask a police officer. Is that right?" "Yes, that's right," I told her. "Well, then," she said as she extended her hand toward me, "would you please tie my shoe?"

It was the end of the day when I parked my police van in front of the station. As I gathered my equipment, my K_9 partner, Jake, was barking, and I saw a little boy staring in at me. "Is that your dog you got back there?" he asked. "It sure is," I replied. Puzzled, the boy looked at me and then toward the back of the van. Finally he said, "What'd he do?"

While working for an organization that delivers lunches to elderly shut-ins, I used to take my 4_year_old daughter on my afternoon rounds. She was unfailingly intrigued by the various appliances of old age, particularly the canes, walkers and wheelchairs. One day I found her sitting was an old leaf that had been pressed in between the pages.

"Mama, look what I found", the boy called out.

"What have you got there, dear?"

With astonishment in the young boy's voice, he answered, "I think it's Adam's underwear.

What is a Grandmother? (Written by a 3rd grader at St. Andrews School, Washington, D. C.

A grandmother is a lady who has no little children of her own. She likes other people's. A grandfather is a man grandmother.

Grandmothers don't have to do anything except be there. They are old, so they shouldn't play or run. It is enough if they drive us to the market and have lots of dimes ready. When they take us for walks, they slow down past things like pretty leaves and caterpillars. They never say "hurry up."

Usually grandmothers are fat, but not too fat to tie your shoes. They wear glasses and funny underwear. They can take their teeth out.

Grandmothers don't have to be smart. They only have to answer questions like, "Why isn't Grandma married?" and "How come dogs chase cats?"

When they read to us, they don't skip lines or mind if we ask for the same story over again.

Everyone should try to have a grandmother, especially if you don't have a TV, because they are the only grown-ups who have TIME.

My 3-year-old daughter was having a wonderful time playing on the bed ...

At one point, she said, "Dad, look at this," and stuck out two of her fingers.

Trying to keep her entertained, I reached out and stuck her fingers in my mouth and said, "Dad, I'm gonna eat your fingers!" pretending to eat them before I rushed out of the room again.

When I returned, my daughter was standing on the bed staring at her fingers with a devastated look on her face. I said, "What's wrong honey?"

She replied, "What happened to my booger?"

A couple had two little boys, ages 8 and 10, who were excessively mischievous ...

... They were always getting into trouble, and their parents knew that if any mischief occurred their town, their sons were probably involved.

The boys' mother heard that a clergyman in town had been successful in disciplining children, she asked if he would speak with her boys.

The clergyman agreed, but asked to see them individually. So the mother sent her 8-year old in the morning, with the older boy to see the clergyman in the afternoon.

The clergyman, a huge man with a booming voice, sat the younger boy down and asked him sternly. "Where is God?"

The boy's mouth dropped open, but he made no response, sitting there with his mouth hangin open, wide-eyed. So the clergyman repeated the question in an even sterner tone, "Where is God!!?"

Again, the boy made no attempt to answer. So, the clergyman raised his voice even more and shook his finger in the boy's face and bellowed, WHERE IS GOD!

"The boy screamed and bolted from the room, ran directly home and dove into his closet, slant the door behind him. When his older brother found him in the closet, he asked, "What happen

The younger brother, gasping for air, replied, "We are in BIG trouble this time, dude. God is missing, and they think WE did it!!"

A mother was telling her little girl what her own childhood was like.

"We used to skate outside on a pond. I had a swing made from a tire; it hung from a tree in o front yard. We rode our pony. We picked wild raspberries in the woods." The little girl was wid eyed, taking this in.

At last she said, "Mom, I sure wish I'd gotten to know you sooner!"

My grandson was visiting one day when he asked, "Grandma, do you know how you and God : alike?"

I mentally polished my halo as I asked, "No, how are we alike?"

"You're both old," he replied.

A little girl was diligently pounding away on her father's word processor. She told him she was writing a story.

"What's it about?" he asked.

"I don't know," she replied. "I can't read."

I didn't know if my granddaughter had learned her colors yet, so I decided to test her. I would point out something and ask what color it was. She would tell me, and she was always correct it was fun for me, so I continued. At last she headed for the door, saying sagely, "Grandma, I it's time for you to try to figure out some of these yourself!"

Our five-year-old son, Mark, couldn't wait to tell his father about the movie we had watched on television, "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea." The scenes with the submarine and the giant octopus had kept him wide-eyed.

In the middle of the telling, my husband interrupted Mark to ask, "What caused the submarine to sink?"

With a look of incredulity, Mark replied, "Dad, it was the 20,000 leaks!"

When my grandson, Billy, and I entered our vacation cabin, we kept the lights off until we were inside to keep from attracting pesky insects. Still, a few fireflies followed us in. Noticing them before I did, Billy whispered, "It's no use, Grandpa. The mosquitoes are coming after us with flashlights."

When my grandson asked me how old I was, I teasingly replied, "I'm not sure."

"Look in your underwear, Grandma," he advised. "Mine says I'm four."

A second grader came home from school and said to her mother, "Mom, guess what? We learned how to make babies today."

The mother, more than a little surprised, tried to keep her cool. "That's interesting," she said, "do you make babies?"

"It's simple," replied the girl.

"You just change 'y' to 'i' and add 'es'."

Things I've learned from my children:

- A king size waterbed holds enough water to fill a 2000 sq. ft. house 4 inches deep.
- If you spray hair spray on dust bunnies and run over them with roller blades, they can fly.
- A 3-year old's voice is louder than 200 adults in a crowded restaurant.
- If you hook a dog leash over a ceiling fan, the motor is not strong enough to rotate a 42 pound boy wearing Batman underwear and a Superman cape. It is strong enough, however, if tied to a paint can, to spread paint on all four walls of a 20x20 ft. room.
- You should not throw baseballs up when the ceiling fan is on. When using a ceiling fan as a bat, you have to throw the ball up a few times before you get a hit. A ceiling fan can hit baseball a long way.
- The glass in windows (even double-pane) doesn't stop a baseball hit by a ceiling fan.
- When you hear the toilet flush and the words "uh oh," it's already too late.
- Brake fluid mixed with Clorox makes smoke, and lots of it.
- A six-year-old can start a fire with a flint rock even though a 36-year-old man says they only do it in the movies.
- Certain Lego's will pass through the digestive tract of a 4-year-old.
- Play Dough and microwave should not be used in the same sentence.
- Super Glue is forever.
- No matter how much Jell-O you put in a swimming pool you still can't walk on water.
- Pool filters do not like Jell-O.
- VCR's do not eject PB&J sandwiches even though TV commercials show they do.
- Garbage bags do not make good parachutes.
- Marbles in gas tanks make lots of noise when driving.
- You probably do not want to know what that odor is.
- Always look in the oven before you turn it on. Plastic toys do not like ovens.
- The fire department in Austin, TX has a 5-minute response time.
- The spin cycle on the washing machine does not make earthworms dizzy.
- It will, however, make cats dizzy.
- Cats throw up twice their body weight when dizzy.

A little child in church for the first time watched as the ushers passed the offering plates . . .

- . . . When they neared the pew where he sat, the youngster piped up so that everyone hear: "Don't pay for me Daddy, I'm under five."
- A little boy was attending his first wedding. After the service, his cousin asked him, "How many women can a man marry?" "Sixteen," the boy responded. His cousin was amazed he had an answer so quickly. "How do you know that?" "Easy," the little boy said. "All you have to do is add it up, like the preacher said: '4 better, 4 worse, 4 richer, 4 poorer'."
- After a church service on Sunday morning, a young boy suddenly announced to his mother "Mom, I've decided to become a minister when I grow up." "That's okay with us, but what made you decide that?" "Well," said the little boy, I have to go to church on Sunday anyway and I figure it will be more fun to stand up and yell, than to sit and listen."
- A 6-year-old was overheard reciting the Lord's Prayer at a church service: And forgive us our trash passes, as we forgive those who passed trash against us."

- A boy was watching his father, a pastor, write a sermon. "How do you know what to say asked. "Why, God tells me." "Oh, then why do you keep crossing things out?"
- A little girl became restless as the preacher's sermon dragged on and on. Finally, she lea over to her mother and whispered, "Mommy, if we give him the money now, will he let u go?"
- After the dedication of his baby brother in church, little Johnny sobbed all the way home the back seat of the car. His father asked him three times what was wrong. Finally, the l replied, "That preacher said he wanted us brought up in a Christian home, and I want to with you guys!"
- Terri asked her Sunday School class to draw pictures of their favorite Bible stories. She ' puzzled by Kyle's picture, which showed four people on an airplane, so she asked him w story it was meant to represent. "The flight to Egypt," said Kyle. "I see ... And that must Mary, Joseph, And Baby Jesus," Ms. Terri said. "But who's the fourth person?" "Oh, that' Pontius - the Pilot.
- The Sunday School Teacher asks, "Now, Johnny, tell me frankly, do you say prayers bef eating?" "No sir," little Johnny replies, "I don't have to. My Mom is a good cook."
- A college drama group presented a play in which one character would stand on a trap dc and announce, "I descend into hell!" A stagehand below would then pull a rope, the trap would open, and the character would plunge through. The play was well received. When actor playing the part became ill, another actor who was quite overweight took his place When the new actor announced, "I descend into hell!" the stagehand pulled the rope, an actor began his plunge, but became hopelessly stuck. No amount of tugging on the rope could make him descend. One student in the balcony jumped up and yelled: "Hallelujah! is full!"
- Pastor Dave Charlton tells us, "After a worship service at First Baptist Church in Newcast Kentucky, a mother with a fidgety seven-year-old boy told me how she finally got her sc sit still and be quiet. About halfway through the sermon, she leaned over and whispered you don't be quiet, Pastor Charlton is going to lose his place and will have to start his se all over again!' It worked."
- A little girl was sitting on her grandfather's lap as he read her a bedtime story. From tim time, she would take her eyes off the book and reach up to touch his wrinkled cheek. St was alternately stroking her own cheek, then his again. Finally she spoke up, "Grandpa, God make you?" "Yes, sweetheart," he answered, "God made me a long time ago." "Oh, paused, "Grandpa, did God make me too?" "Yes, indeed, honey," he said, "God made yc just a little while ago." Feeling their respective faces again, she observed, "God's getting better at it, isn't he?"
