

"Loving Arms of Service" A ceremony for an Honour night or Installation from "Arms of Loving Service" compiled by Marjorie M. Morgan for "The Serenity Collection", Brighton, Ontario

Standing tall against the beautiful morning sky we see that most unusual example of working and serving. The windmill of the landscape speaks to each of us by its own example. Hour after hour, and day after day, the arms of the windmill turn with steady pace, fanned by warm gentle breezes, to generate power. For us that power becomes love, love that encourages us to serve one another.

SISTER ADAH

Yours are the arms of Integrity. Every day be faithful to the trust that is yours. Truth never changes. Your word and your good name are treasures to possess.

SISTER RUTH

Yours are the arms of Patience. Approach your day's work with the knowledge that in honest labour and patient industry for others with no thought of gain, there is great contentment and reward.

SISTER ESTER

Yours are the arms of Determination. Gently but firmly pursue your goals.
Keep your purpose always in sight. Nothing is so strong as gentleness, and nothing is so gentle as real strength.

SISTER MARTHA

Yours are the arms of Reverence. Go quietly through the turmoil of the day.
Let nothing drain your inner strength away. Refresh your faith often by being alone with Him.

SISTER ELECTA

Yours are the arms of Loving Kindness. Let your arms reach out and touch the needy, the friendless, and the lonely. The whole worth of a kind deed lives in the love that inspires it. Be generous with love.

MY SISTERS

The windmill stands tall on the landscape of life steadily generating power as it faces winds with open arms. You too can stretch your arms to generate love and concern for others around you. Our Order's goal is to care for and serve our fellow man.

Joan Ross, PM
Port Royal #1, Annapolis Royal Nova Scotia